Seattle, WA 98188

International Academy of Design & Technology – Seattle began providing instruction in fall 2004, which is after the date range used for the graduation rate calculation in 2010. The graduation rate is calculated AFTER there are graduates from the longest program at the school (Bachelor level degree) based on a formula required by the U.S. Department of Education. For this reason, data is not available at this time.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. Who is a first-time student?

A first-time student has no prior postsecondary experience before enrolling at this school. This means that a student who attended another postsecondary school before enrolling at this school is not included in the calculation. The rate also does not include students enrolled part-time, taking individual classes (as compared to enrolling in a full program), or only auditing classes.

2. How are the graduation rates calculated?

The rates are calculated using the Student Right-to-Know formula in order to comply with U.S. Department of Education requirements. The statistics track all first-time, full-time certificate or degree-seeking students who began school during the date range noted above and have graduated within 150% of the normal program length. For example, for a two-year program, the graduation rate would include students who had graduated within three years of beginning the program. The Student Right-to-Know formula: $\text{Column C} \div \text{Column B} \times 100 = \text{Graduation Rate}$. This rate does not include students enrolled in graduate level programs.

3. How do I obtain more information?

To obtain further details as to policies relating to graduation rates, please contact the Director of Education at the school. Information pertaining to the graduation rates of all postsecondary institutions recognized by the U.S. Department of Education may be found on the College Navigator website. <http://nces.ed.gov/collegenavigator/>
